Quiet Session of Town Council Last Tuesday

Local Member Wrote Council Re Industrial Buildings

As last Monday was Empire Day and a public holiday, the council did not meet till Tuesday evening.

Mayor Sangster occupied the chair and councillors Horro, Evans, Newham, Brydie and Lindsay were present.

A letter was read from J. J. Robertson, M. L. A. stating he had brought to the attention of the government the building in Redcliff suitable for the use of industries of any kind, and also assuring the council of his co-operation in any movement for the betterment of the town.

Mr. Wm. Henderson as a representative of the fire brigade brought attention of Council to the question of fees for firemen in case of fires. The motion was lost by a large majority.

The claim of A. T. Stratton for damage to goods in his car was decided not to be paid in account of lack of proof of proof of damage.

Mr. W. R. Doore appeared on behalf of the Stampede Association asking for the use of the Little Theatre building for an entertainment on Stampede night. As the town does not own the building Mr. Doore was advised to make arrangements with the Little Theatre officials.

The school request for finance for month of May was granted.

Mr. Perry made application for option on building on Fifth Street, previously owned by B. J. Bott. The application was of no avail.

There was some question as to the legality of property used near the Greenhouse for garden and pasture purposes. The matter was left over for investigation.

Councillor Evans was appointed deputy mayor for the next quarter.

The application from Mr. Bergeron for a soft drink license was approved by council.

A letter was read from the City Minister of Council Affairs advising council that the Utilities Commission suggested that the council re-appoint Harvey & Morrison as auditors for the town for this year. A motion was passed authorizing the secretary to advise the deputy minister that the council has already appointed Mr. Martin Oliver as Auditor.

Accounts as raised by the finance committee were approved for payment.

A. Y. P. A. NOTES

All members are requested to be present at the meeting on Tuesday, June 2nd. There will be initiation of new members election of officers and a social evening.

The property is known as "Silver Birch Auto Camp," on which there is a large lodge and nine log cabins well fitted up for tourists and holiday parties which may be rented at very reasonable rates. ## NEW FURNACE IN GLASS PLANT NOW COMPLETED

Is Equipped With Most Modern Improvements--Will be in Operation Within Next Ten Days.

For the past two months the Dominion Glass plant here has been undergoing an almost complete overhauling and the majority of the factory has been altered and improved to a considerable extent. Those who have visited the plant for some time would at once notice the "new" changes made. Indeed, it is part of the factory on the inside has almost been completely built over.

The main change has been in the rebuilding and re-arranging of a new furnace which is considerably larger than the one it is replacing and is equipped with the most modern improvements and conveniences known to this line of industry.

The system used in the new furnace will mean a saving on gas and larger service from the furnace.

In the handling of this far-see the plant is keeping up with the times and the company expects not only to increase its capacity but also to improve the quality of its kinds of glassware made here. When in operation the furnace will have a normal capacity of at least 25 tons of glassware a day.

For the past week fires have been going to the new furnace and it is expected that it will be turning out glass within the next ten days.

The method of firing in the new furnace, which is now completed, is of the luminous flame type and the furnace is equipped with greatly enlarged check-valves, a complete set of indicating and recording instruments, automatic draft controlling in order and the newest type of thermometer and gas air ratio meter.

Some idea of the size work in the construction of the new furnace may be gleaned from the fact that about 30 freight car loads of material were used in its building. There were whole up of ordinary brick, fire brick, steel, cement, flux blocks, etc.

Ever since its erection two years ago the Dominion Glass plant has been one of the highest and most up to date industries in Alberta and when in operation to full capacity has employed from 150 to 200 of its staff working 24 hours a day.

The recent improvements made to the plant is in keeping with the policy of the company since its opening here.

Empire Day Was Enjoyed by Youngsters

Scouts Have Big Bonfire On
The Beacon Hill

Ideal weather for the Victoria Day holiday last Monday furnished a splendid opportunity for the youngsters, and many families and groups took advantage of the occasion. In the evening the Boy Scouts built a big bonfire on the hill near the Beacon and a large crowd assembled around it. In several places grounds fire works were set off in the evening for the amusement of the children.

We venture to say that many fathers and mothers, grandfathers and grandmothers who were watching the pyrotechnic displays, had, run through their minds what they used to say when youngsters. "The 24th of May is the Queen's birthday. If they don't give us a holiday we'll all run away." And then "Blackward turn backward go time in thy flight, Make me a child again just for tonight."

Trees around the stand pipe are showing up nicely this year. They appear to be all growing and making a nice shady spot. Care should be taken to see that the trees are not hampered by the boys playing on the grounds.

LOOK AT YOUR LABEL

On each of the booths were still and guessing contests were, good prizes were offered and the more fortunate were seen packing around their winnings from a set of dishes to a chocolate bar.

On the whole the carnival was a great success and was exceptionally well conducted under the management of Mr. W. King assisted by a lively lot of young and old members of the segregation.

"Now taking part in the well rewarded for their trouble in the proceeds for the evening amounted to in the neighborhood of $120.00.

Carnival Last Friday Evening A Great Success

Was Under the Auspices Of
St. Ambrose Church

Broadway store was the centre of attraction last Friday evening when the two floors were crowded with men, women and children for the carnival which was put on by St. Ambrose Church.

The Fifty odd cars which were parked around the building gave some indication of the number of people who patronized the event and the din of those behind the several counters attracted attention and convinced all that they were no silent saloons.

Games of both chance and skill of all kinds occupied the ground floor and such one was well patronized, furnishing amusement for spectators and joy for winners. There were races of guessing contests, Bugo carts, nail driving, and throwing balls. Besides these were refreshment booths, novelty games, balloons and candy counters, etc.

Upticks was used as a midway with all kinds of side-shows such as, fortune tellers, a three legged man, Gradador brand, wine joined together, world's largest baby, world's champion lion chewer and shows for men only and women only. Here also were guessing contests of a more complicated nature.

In each of the booths were still and guessing contests were, good prizes were offered and the more fortunate were seen packing around their winnings from a set of dishes to a chocolate bar.

On the whole the carnival was a great success and was exceptionally well conducted under the management of Mr. W. King assisted by a lively lot of young and old members of the segregation.

"Now taking part in the well rewarded for their trouble in the proceeds for the evening amounted to in the neighborhood of $120.00.

TO START ON THE ALBERTA ROADS

Speeding up in preparing for a tourist rush the Alberta Public Works Department has commenced work on projects which will require an expenditure of about $400,000.

The official announcement of this initial program was made last night by H. P. Keith, Deputy Minister of Public Works, in the absence of W. A. Fallow Minister of the department who was in the east.

In launching this program, the department is responding to representations made by the Alberta Motor Association and others as to the need of improved highways in this province.

OUR STAMPEDE

A great deal of the success of the annual stampede to be held here this year will depend upon the interest shown in it by the local citizens generally.

This is about the only annual celebration the town has and a town whose citizens do not make an effort to make an event of this kind a success, is usually referred to as a "dis-cove."

There is much that every citizen and every organization can do to make any town event a success. Let us all get busy and lend a helping hand to the officials in charge.

There is a possibility that unless the stampede is a financial success this year it may be the last we will have.

The program arranged for this year is much more varied than in the past, giving an opportunity for all kinds of sporting contests for men, women and children, for which good prizes are offered.

There has been a vast improvement in the appearance of some sections of the town as a result of the clean up movement requested by the town council. As the movement is continued through this week there will no doubt be further improvements made. All should take advantage of the opportunity to get the rubbish removed.

Prairie grass is now looking much greener and more healthy as a result of the recent rains.

Wireworm Problem In Western Canada

Annual Loss Runs To Millions Of Dollars In The Prairie Provinces
Fully three out of four farms in many areas of medium and light soil in the prairie and open park sections of Western Canada, and many farms in other areas, have a "permanent" wireworm problem of considerable importance. This is revealed by surveys conducted since 1927 by the Dominion Entomological Laboratory, Saskatoon, Sask. Yet, although the annual losses from wireworm run to millions of dollars in the Prairie Provinces, not one farmer in ten realizes its cause. Because wireworms live in the soil they are not readily seen, and because their damage is usually in the nature of a general crop thinning the injury is commonly attributed to various other factors.

Whether or not there is a wireworm problem is determined by first looking for the characteristic damage symptoms: a thin poor stand, or a general patchy condition which is worse on knolls, spots of infertile soil, and previously weedy areas; or, in more severe cases, the entire whole crop is eaten out, with plants still growing in the drill wheel tracks and other packed spots. Suspects of wireworms should be particularly aroused if the injury is more common and more severe to crop on summer-fallow than on stubble. If the damage is most pronounced in years of limited moisture, or if the damage tends to recur in the same fields and on the same crops every year in which conditions are favourable to the pest.

The identification of the individual damaged plants for further characteristic symptoms is necessary, since a thin crop stand or patchiness may result from several causes. The young plant is injured by the wireworm boring into the underground part of the stem, forcing its way to the centre tissues, often giving a "shredded" appearance to the injured part, but rarely completely severing the stem. By the killing of the inside of the stem first, the centre leaf dies and shrivels before the outside leaves begin to wilt and die.

Finally, search must be made for the pest itself. Wireworms are most easily found if the search is made to the top 1 to 4 inches of soil along the drill runs at the time and place that young grain plants are found in dying condition. This will be in May or early June. If the search is made later, the pest will probably not be found, because it burrows deeply into the soil during the hotter, drier weather. Wireworms are shiny, yellow, hard-bodied worms, rather sluggish in their movements. Full-grown specimens are about an inch in length, but usually various sizes are found together in the same field.

Careful observation along the above lines is definitely worthwhile, since both the extent of the wireworms and the rate of damage by them can be decidedly reduced, with the additional cost of certain agricultural-modification practices of regular farming practices. Control measures are described in a booklet, "The Wireworm Problem in the Field Crops of Western Canada," which may be secured from the Publicity and Extension Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, or from the Dominion Entomological Laboratory, Saskatoon.

Thousand Years Ago

Use Of Anæsthetic Advocated By Arabian Eye Surgeon
A notebook written by an Arabian eye surgeon 1,000 years ago, has been published as the first known reference to anæsthetics. Copied by hand in Arabic some 800 years before the use of general anæsthetics was recommended, the book describes 143 eye disease remedies and advocated "putting the patient to sleep before painful operations. The author of the "Ophthalmic Monograph"—All Ibn Sina—gave no instruction on how the sleep should be induced.

Thinks Japan Made Mistake
Japan made a serious mistake in going into Manchuria, the way she did, Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa said in an address at Montreal. The Japanese visitor said his country was faced with the problem of managing a population with a large proportion of Chinese. In the past 30 years 25,000,000 Chinese have migrated into Manchuria, while the Japanese have remained in their own country, he said.

Judge: "Will you waive your right to appeal?"
Responded: "Don't let her have any more rights. Judge. That's how I got this black eye!"

BRITAIN'S GRAND OLD DUKE CELEBRATES EIGHTY-SIXTH BIRTHDAY

May 1st was a red-letter day in the British Royal Family, because it was the birthday of the Duke of Kent, the great-grandson of King Edward and only living son of the late Queen Victoria. This year the Duke celebrated his eighty-sixth birthday, when he was honoured by the King, who appointed him first of his personal aides-de-camp. Another moment of esteem was accorded the Duke when he was proclaimed Grand Master of the United Grand Lodge of Freemasons for the 26th time. Above are a few glimpses of His Royal Highness: At the left when he was a Field Marshal during the Great War; (bottom centre) when he was Governor-General of Canada; (top centre) when the Duke celebrated his eighty-second birthday; and (right) when he inspected the King's bodyguard "Yeomen of the Guard" at St. James' Palace last year.

To Help Youth

Young People Facing Graver Difficulties Than Ever Before

An appeal to war veterans to help youth, "facing graver difficulties than any generation in the world's history," was made by Brig.-Gen. Alex. Ross, Yorkton, Sask., national president of the Canadian Legion, in an address to Montreal and district Legionnaires.

"The world is passing through one of its most critical periods, and we are obliged to see it either sink into oblivion or go on to greater things than ever before," General Ross said.

"If these difficulties are going to be faced and surmounted," he continued, "then youth will require the inspiration that spurred us on 20 years ago. I suggest to you there is to-day a greater opportunity for us than was ever offered in 1914. I trust we shall help youth with our experience and guide it with our counsel."

To Investigate Scheme

An investigation of the land settlement scheme, where city relief families are placed on farms, will be conducted before the next session of parliament, Labor Minister Rogers has announced. He intended to visit settlements for first-hand knowledge and to assist him in concluding whether the scheme should be retained, expanded or abandoned.

Self-Denying Father: "Son, can't you cut down on your college expenses? You'd know they are almost ruining the family."

Self-Indulgent Son: "Well, I might possibly do without any books."

King Edward Inspects Guards

Told Men We Know What Duty Is

On the parade ground of Chelsea Barracks where 22 years ago as a subaltern he did many an arduous drill, King Edward VIII, recently inspected the 3rd Bn. Grenadier Guards, who have just returned from 2½ years service in Egypt.

"What a fine body of men. You must be proud of them," he said to Lieut.-Col. C. R. Britten, the commanding officer and formerly one of His Majesty's brother officers. Addressing the men later in the informal atmosphere of their mess-room, the King said: "I know what duty in Egypt means. I have been there, and I know how trying it can be in such a climate."

Typical Chinese Village

Vancouver's Oriental Plan To Reconstruct Their Canadian Homes

Chinese business men of Vancouver will erect a typical Chinese village in the heart of Chinatown and will procure the finest collection of Oriental art and culture ever exhibited outside China as their contribution to Vancouver's golden jubilee celebrations.

Two of their representatives have gone to China to find the most skilled workmen in jade, ivory, embroidery and weaving. Chinese artisans will also be brought to Vancouver to construct a seven-story building representing a Buddhist temple, a pagoda, and Chinese houses.

Great Britain is educating its people to use more milk.

Work Occupied Eight Years

Income Tax Headbook Has Been Bound In England

Mr. Working Man and his wife will now be able to understand all about income tax—perhaps.

A specific government book now on sale tells them all they want to know. It has been produced by a committee, which said for 5½ years to try to make the law intelligible to everyone.

The report is in two volumes, has 250 pages, weighs nearly three pounds, costs $7.00 to produce and 10½ months to compile, and it costs $3 to buy.

One passage reads: "If the ordinary layman expects that the result of our labors will be to satisfy his aspirations for a short and simple code, he is doomed to grievous disappointment."

Generous With Salutes

British India Always Welcomes King

Emperor With 194 Guns
British India is generous with its salutes. In England the British King gets 21 guns, but when he goes to India, as Emperor, he gets 194. On all his anniversaries, British Indian guns go off 21 times. The Viceroy and members of the Royal Family get 21 guns. Next in rank are 21 guns for foreign Sovereigns, the Sultan of Zanzibar, five Maharajas and the Muzam of Hyderabad. Even a political agent in India, when he arrives at a military station gets an eleven-gun salute.—Time.

Over 1,000,000 tons of salt were produced in Japan in the last year.

New Home Not Strange

Queen Mary Is Well Acquainted With Marlborough House

Marlborough House being refurbished as a residence for Queen Mary, is a massive, dark red building which catches the eye of all visitors as it stands in the Mall almost opposite the Queen Victoria Memorial, and a few minutes' walk from Buckingham Palace. The Queen, however, is no stranger to it, and it has sentimental value for her, for it was there, 35 years ago that she first met the little boy who was to become her husband and with whom she was ultimately to share the throne. She was then three and he five. Her mother, the Duchess of Teck, professed Queen Alexandra, who as Princess of Wales was living at Marlborough House, saying if she might send "little Mary to play with your George." Then for nine years before ascending the throne Mary resided there.

It was fully prepared for the young King when Prince of Wales, but he refused to move over from his bachelor quarters in St. James's Palace. Queen Mary goes into it, the King is in Buckingham Palace, and his old home in St. James's will be taken over by the Duke and Duchess of York.

Pacing Of The Umbrella

In Seven Years Production Dropped By Twenty-Two Million

Now the umbrella makers have their let-up. Production totalled 27 million in 1927 and dropped to five million in 1934. Buses, subways, taxis, a car for every home and a few factors which make our time in the rain reach a minimum are responsible. And umbrellas are out as commodities, unlike the Brundage Run, because the ladies to-day like to sit in the sun.

There is more to an umbrella than something to be forgotten in restaurants or trains. As an institution, the device has an interesting history. It comes from the glamorous Orient, where it was born to a place in the sun. It has been carried over the heads of countless potentates as an emblem of rank from earliest times. The Christian church has attached some significance to umbrellas as a long time in each of the basilican churches in Rome there still hangs a large umbrella.

Calisthenics, first and as protection against the sun, came into general use as rain abides in the eighteenth century. Now the umbrella is headed like the huggly wig for children.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Last FLOW of Civilization

Music Is Called Odious And Youngest Of The Arts

Musical life, poetry, may be defined as the language of the soul. When combined with lofty thoughts and emotions, melody is the purest form of human expression. Music is said to be the oldest and the youngest of the arts. It is the oldest because it is the first expression of primitive man, who gave vent to his joys and sorrows in crude rhythmic chant and dance. It is the youngest of the arts because it matured in the past few centuries, and sculpture. It was not until the year 1685 that the wider range of the human voice were explored by the introduction of the opera. Prior to that the compass of singing was largely confined within the octave. The opera gave scope for a fuller display of vocal powers and dramatic expression in song.

Depended On Whistle

Since a factory in Bursa Falls, Ont., curtailed operating, and stopped blowing the whistle noon and evening, Bursa Falls children began missing. A delegation of newspaper advertisers to the council to have a bell rung at those hours so the children would know when to come home.

Never Takes A Holiday

The Manchester Sunday Chronicle says the holiday men must more care on the road, more busy waiting around, and that means more accidents. Here is an appeal to drivers. Heed it. Remember death never takes a holiday with the rest of the world.

Judge—"Did the innocent bystander in the fight go home in the interval?"
Witness—"No, he went home in an ambulance."

A dog suggest, recently found in the Soviet Union, weighed over 26 pounds and was said to resemble a long fat boulder.

Provide Work

For Thousands

Fisheries Contribute One Of Leading Industries In Canada

"Twelve hundred and fifty miles of water." This statement indicates the extent of British Columbia's fishing industry. We are told that if the drift nets used in salmon fishing in Canada were coiled end to end they would stretch from Ottawa to Halifax and about a third of the way back. This has been figured out by the Federal Department of Fisheries for the purpose of illustrating how great a quantity of water is used in every one of Canada's fisheries. It also indicates how much work the manufacture of these nets gives to artisans employed in Canadian factories and mills.

Canada's commercial fishermen and their dependents number more than 400,000—enough to populate a big city—but, indirectly, the fishing industry provides a means of livelihood for many thousands more people in the transportation and marketing of the products. The industry uses tons of thousands of lines, large quantities of rope and rigging, millions of cans, thousands of boxes and large quantities of gasoline and oil for fishing craft, which number 22,000 in all. In addition there are gunpins and fittings, oil-shins and rubber boots, which are in constant demand.

We island folk give little thought to those men who go down to the sea, ship and sail in the great waters, year after year, to provide us with Canada's leading industries. Last year Canada exported fish valued at $10,000,000. The United States and Great Britain are the largest markets, but big shipments are made to other countries and as far as Australia and New Zealand. Last year's foreign sales of dried salmon alone amounted to well on to four and a half million dollars in value.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

How It Worked Out

Man Who Halted Nicknames Could Not Escape Them

William Williams distilled nicknames. He used to say that most good names were ruined by abbreviations, which was a bit of a shame.

"I myself," he said, "am one of six children. We were all given good, fashioned Christian names, but all our names were shortened into mesallages or feeble monosyllables by our friends. I shall name my children so that it will be impracticable to call their names." The Williams family, in the course of time, was blessed with five children, all boys. The eldest was named after his father, William. It was said to be the oldest and the youngest of the arts. It is the oldest because it is the first expression of primitive man, who gave vent to his joys and sorrows in crude rhythmic chant and dance. It is the youngest of the arts because it matured in the past few centuries, and sculpture. It was not until the year 1685 that the wider range of the human voice were explored by the introduction of the opera. Prior to that the compass of singing was largely confined within the octave. The opera gave scope for a fuller display of vocal powers and dramatic expression in song.

In pursuance of this scheme, the next three sons were named Wilbert, Wilfred, and Wilmoist. They are all big boys now. And they are respectively known by their intimates as "Wib", "Wif", "Wil", "Chuck", and "Wid".
